

Chilseok

Adapted from the Korean book Gyeonwu and Jiknyeo
by Sakuramoto Elementary School
Kawasaki, Japan

Translated into English
By Yoshie Arima
Program for Teaching East Asia
University of Colorado at Boulder

Chilseok

A play by the second-graders of Sakuramoto Elementary School,
Kawasaki, Japan

Narrator 1: Once upon a time, a beautiful princess was living in a big country in the sky.

Narrator 2: The princess was very good at weaving, so she was called Orihime (weaver princess).

Narrator 3: The king thought he should find someone suitable for Orihime to marry, so he went to a neighboring country to look for someone.

Narrator 4: He found a prince who was a hard worker and good at taking care of cattle.

The prince takes care of cattle. The cattle look very pleasant.

Narrator 5: Orihime and Kengyuu (the herdsman) got married and became a lovely couple.

Narrator 6: However, the two got along so well that they did nothing but play all the time.

Narrator 7: Orihime's loom became covered with dust.

Narrator 8: The cattle pen also became filthy since Kengyuu did not clean.

Cattle 1&2: Moo moo, please clean the pen.

Cattle 3: I am hungry. Moo.

Narrator 9: Kengyuu neglected the cattle crying from hunger.

King: Stop playing and work.

Queen: Orihime, weave as hard as you can in the country to the east of the

1as ha82.5()-100.0002e)1(r, th52 1 Tf-0.3) pleas)TJ- Tc 0.0011 Tw 17.115) Td 0 T
Catt98-3 0att98-495 06 99.41.1m.000st of the Narrator 11: The separated couple was very sad.

Narrator 12: They worked hard, always looking forward to July 7th.

Narrator 13: The long-awaited July 7th came.

Narrator 14: They hurried to the Milky Way.

Narrator 15: When they found each other across the Milky Way, they shouted

Kengyuu: Orihime

Orihime: Kengyuu

Narrator 15: loudly.

Narrator 16: However, there was the very wide Milky Way between them, so they could not cross it.

Narrator 17: Big drops of tears trickled down from their eyes.

Narrator 18: In a country on the earth...

Narrator 19: The clear blue sky became dark and started to rain heavily.

Narrator 20: Houses, rice fields, farms, animals, and even people floated into the waters.

Narrator 21: The couple's tears became a heavy rain that poured on the earth.

Narrator 22: People on the earth worried:

People on the earth 1: The sky must have broken.

People on the earth 2: It's a curse. We all are going to die if it stays like this.

Everyone: What are we going to do? We are in a bad situation.

Each group says it in a different time.

Narrator 23: A princess on the earth did not know what to do, so she asked a fortune-teller for help.

Narrator 24: She understood the reason for the heavy rain, so she gathered her followers and said:

Princess on the earth: Everyone, do you have any good ideas to help this situation?

Follower 1: In our country, we have kachi (magpies in Korean).

Follower 2: How about sending the kachi to fly and build a bridge?

Follower 3: That's a good idea.

Narrator 25: So the princess asked the head of the kachi.

The head of kachi: O.K. Leave this to us. We will go to the Milky Way now to become a bridge.

Narrator 26: The kachi of the whole country took off all together.

Narrator 27: Then what happened? A marvelous kachi bridge was created in the Milky Way.

Narrator 28: