How to Return to the University

Undergraduate degree-seeking students are eligible to take a leave of absence from the university for up to two semesters plus one summer from their last graded semester without having to reapply. View the return chart.

To access certain benefits while away, undergraduates can apply for a leave of absence.

Graduate students must receive a grade every fall and spring semester (W grades count) or apply for a leave of absence in order to return to CU Boulder in the future without reapplying. A leave of absence is not required for summer semester, graduate students not taking summer classes are considered active students.
